Editorials

FOUL PLAY AND FAIR

By Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath

It will not be our purpose each week to exhaust our kind reader's patience by keeping our eyes rivetted upon our new Jewish contemporary, and to take the theme of our editorials from their consistently regular cannonades. In fact, some of our readers may feel that we have already paid undue attention to their pernicious propaganda directed with malice aforethought against this periodical and its associate editor. If this be true—mea culpa; we shall sin no more. We feel that it is imperative, however, once again to bring to the attention of our readers the malicious nature of the methods which are being employed by this journal purporting to "plant itself firmly in the holy ground of Jewish idealism."

Like our immediate predecessors, Rabbi Isserman and "our own Dr. Brickner" (now falsely represented as having been doves of peace in their own halcyon days) we have been continuously dubbed as panderers to popular taste, seekers after sensationalism, purveyors of doctrines dear only to the mobs of the market place, so that with a cheaply purchased mass approval, we might rise to loftier fields of endeavor, return to our native land, and enlarge our yearly income. It is dangerous thus to categorize individuals and it is a gross injustice to generalize about persons as distinctive and as different as Reform rabbis usually are, but it is even more pitiful to fall prey to the very faults which form the basis of such groundless accusations against another; it is pathetic indeed to become the very person we had mistakenly judged our fellow to be.

The present writer, since his arrival in Toronto, has spoken on subjects which were not always the most popular and which were not always destined to bring wide acclaim, as our contemporary has already kindly pointed out. We recount this fact, not that we have a lust for martyrdom or a "persecution complex"; not that we lay the soothing unction to our soul that it is gloriously heroic and sublimely prophetic to champion on all occasions the unpopular cause per se, but merely to indicate that our program has not been, as is constantly alleged, to curry favor with the "goy". The citation of this fact alone suffices to dissipate so absurd an indictment.

But behold the accusers, the flingers of the first stone, embarked upon just such an enterprise. In a leading article superficially, and with utter self contradiction, entitled "Can Pacifism Produce Peace" (to be sure there are various kinds of Pacifism but if Militarism, rather than Pacifism of any sort, must be relied upon to secure peace, then it can only be by capturing everyone in sight so that no foe will dare to fight against the powerful aggressor, as Eugene O'Neill so sardonically suggests in "Marco Millions") in the aforementioned editorial, we are treated to such disinterested and popularity disclaiming phrases as: "Shall the glorious heritage of our own non-militarist (italics are our own) World Empire count as naught in the progress of humanity to the goal of peace?" We wonder why it didn't count more "gloriously" in 1914.

But we are not interested in the truth or falsity of this and several other such statements contained in this particular editorial. We are concerned solely in its motive, not quite cleverly enough concealed in the sentence: "The note of one speaker's uncompromising pacifism (referring to our own address at Hygeia House, under the auspices of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom) collided with the proud, clarion appeal swelling from another's lingering patriotism," (referring to Dr. Russel who shared the same platform, as well as many of the views expressed by the former speaker.) This carefully worded contrast followed further in the article by the subtle suggestion: "When a League of Peoples, such as the British 'Commonwealth' faces possible insidious threat, shall British people regard the uncertain contingency lightly, without a tremor?" All of this sent with frenzied despatch to the public press needs no Sherlock Holmes to discern its ulterior motivation. We wonder now just who is currying favor, who is interested most in "Mah Yomeru Hagoyim," who is waving the flag most furiously, who is jingling and jangling the most blatant jingoism, who is out most avidly for popular acclaim?" But even this might be forgivable. If one desires to bask in the golden sunlight of mass approval, well and good, 'tis their precious privilege. But no rabbi, however much maligned, has ever been accused, so far as we know, of seeking fame and fortune by clambering over the broken bones and shattered frames of his fellow creatures. None has sought his ends by seeking to condemn and to persecute another human soul. Can so much be said of our new magazine, "aiming to represent truly and to serve faithfully the best interests of Canadian Jewry?"

Prompted by a demonic and rather primitive zeal for vengeance because one's own dogmatic and fanatical point of view had been academically challenged; urged by a tribal "dislike for the unlike," this new periodical, seemingly born of the twin parents of hatred and bigotry, now seeks to win adherents not specifically for a cause, but for the prime purpose of gleefully inflicting perhaps irreparable hurt upon a wholly, but mistakenly, presumed enemy. To achieve this most laudable end the cheapest sort of nationalistic fervor is being aroused for the sole function of casting flagrant aspersions upon one who happens, rightly or wrongly, to interpret nationalism and patriotism just a bit more liberally and broadly than the jaunty jingoists of most nations existent today, and just a bit more in conformity with modern international thought, as it is welling up in every land. The diabolic nature of the scheme is perfectly clear. Betray this "trouble maker in Israel" to the masses. Let them tear him to shreds and perhaps "run him out of town" as one of these truly Jewish souls has already put it. Reveal his utterances to the powers that be, the vested interests, and the none too friendly Gentile world. Let theirs be the guilt of completing the work, that our hands may remain spotlessly clean, and that our staunchly Jewish consciences be clear.

We are beginning to discern more vividly than ever before what happened to Jeremiah and a few other sons of Israel. We know fairly well what the editor of our contemporary would have had to say concerning the prophet's trial for his treason at the Temple, and what verdict its sponsors would have returned, had they been his judges in that fatal court. We know also the vengeance that was vented against Spinoza,

The Crane Corwith sink in whose manufacture all manifestations of the commonplace were shunned. And which brings new fields of utility within the range of economy

To serve comfort and beauty

In no room of a modern house are thought and taste so amply repaid as in the arrangement and equipment of the kitchen. For there, thought yields convenience . . . taste, pleasant surroundings to lighten the burdens of routine work.

And because changes cannot be easily made, and replacements are expensive, economy over a long period of time must be taken into consideration.

It is seldom one has the opportunity this Crane Corwith sink offers of serving all these diverse ends at one time. But from a view-point of practical use it presents every convenience.

On its ample double drainboard can be performed countless tasks that have required running from sink to kitchen table.

In its 8" deep, oversized well there is no lack of room for dishwashing, and no need for a dishpan either. At touch a lever automatically stops the drain and holds washing water in the well.

A hose and spray make vegetable washing and dish rinsing as easy as they make it effective.

To keep it spotlessly clean requires a minimum of effort. Its ware is enameled iron, and can be had in regular or stainless style. The fittings are chromium plated, impervious to scratches and tarnish.

Best of all, these conveniences have been molded by Crane designers into a fixture of distinction.

From the apron all monotony is banished by a series of sculptural, set-back planes. Grace is added by placing the gleaming fittings in a sloping recess. But to learn all the advantages a Corwith sink will bring to your kitchen, talk to your plumbing contractor. He can speak with authority on its utility, and on the lasting excellence of the material that it is made from.

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT

The food taken into the body is used either as a source of energy or for tissue building. In order that it may be available for such purposes, the food, as taken, passes through a series of chemical changes which we call digestion, following which it is assimilated in the tissues. It is then available for use as energy. Energy is required to move the muscles; it is also needed to keep the various organs of the body in operation, and, in addition, it is required to maintain the heat of the body. In order to meet the body needs for energy, and also to provide for growth and the replacement of worn-out tissue, a certain amount of food is required. If sufficient food is not taken, the body functions below par, and, if an excess over the amount required is taken, it is stored up as fat. Outside of those cases where there is disease which upsets certain glands whose internal secretions have some control over nutrition, the putting on of weight means that more food is being eaten than is required.

The amount of food required by different individuals varies a great deal. The growing school child requires about as much as an adult, because not only is the child active, but he is growing. Those individuals whose occupations call for vigorous use of the muscles require more food than do those who sit most of the day. Even among those of similar activity, there is a difference—one person normally using more food to keep his body going than another. By keeping watch on your weight, you can soon learn if you are eating more than you need. Weight that gradually increases over the normal, taking into consideration age, sex and height, is an indication that the food intake should be reduced. It is much easier to avoid overweight than it is to reduce after the excessive pounds have been added on.

It is a good plan to watch your weight. It is not suggested that you live with one eye on the weight scale, but a check-up once a month is advisable in order to note any sudden loss of weight and to guard against increasing weight after the age of forty, neither of which is desirable from the health standpoint.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Jewish Hospital Obtains Permit

Under a judgment granted by consent in the Superior Court the city of Montreal is ordered to issue a building permit to the Jewish Hospital Campaign Committee, Incorporated, for the erection of a hospital building on Cote des Neiges Road. The city last month refused to grant a permit and the campaign committee secured a writ of mandamus to force the city's hand. When the writ was presented in Practice Division of the Superior Court the city filed a written consent to judgment granting the writ, and undertook to issue the permit as requested.

Application for a building permit followed on the heels of the campaign conducted last fall to raise $1,000,000 for the construction of a Jewish hospital in Montreal. Including a grant of $300,000 by the provincial Government, nearly $1,600,000 was raised. When the city was asked for a permit on January 13 last it refused, arbitrarily, the petitioner claimed, and the issue was only settled when last week, upon presentation of a writ of mandamus, the city consented to judgment and undertook to issue the permit.

In the petition by which the writ was sought the Jewish Hospital Campaign Committee, Incorporated, sets forth that it was incorporated by a number of Jewish citizens with a view to raising funds for the purpose of purchasing a site in the district of Montreal for the erection of a non-sectarian hospital. Reference is made in the petition to the great shortage of hospital accommodation in the city, to the success of the campaign, and to the subsequent purchase of a site on the southwest corner of the projected prolongation of Cote St. Catherine road westward.

The committee, the petition continues, was ready and willing to comply with the municipal by-laws but the city, "without just cause and in an arbitrary manner, refused to grant a permit" to build on the land referred to. This action, the petitioners claimed, was unjust, arbitrary and illegal and prejudiced the interests of the citizens of Montreal.

In the consent filed the city "declares in open court that the respondent undertakes to issue forthwith a building permit requested by the petitioners herein, and respondent consents that a writ of mandamus be granted, with costs against the respondent."

Weinfield and Sperber acted for the petitioners; Guillaume St. Pierre, K.C., was attorney for the city.

Work will begin as soon as the weather permits. It is expected that patients will be received about a year after the actual construction starts. The dimensions of the lot are 400 feet by 2,000, and the building will occupy 300 feet by 100, and will be five storeys high. The approximate cost will be $700,000.

Due to its position the hospital will be easily accessible both from Westmount and the north end of the city either by tram or automobile. There will be from 150 to 200 beds in the hospital.

Fresh Air Camp Buys Home

The Jewish Laurentian Fresh Air Camp has bought a summer rest home at Lac Lachigan, five miles from Shawbridge, which will be ready for occupancy in June. The main building will contain sleeping quarters only with accommodation for about 75 people at one time. Another building will be utilized for recreation rooms, dining rooms, kitchen and staff quarters. These two main buildings, bright, sunny and modern are set in an estate of 140 acres of lawn and shade trees and a sandy beach. Mountains surround the estate on all sides. The Camp is on an excellent road. Ice is being cut and stored. Furnishing will be commenced soon. An executive meeting of the Jewish Laurentian Fresh Air Camp was held Wednesday, February 5, at the home of the president, Mrs. S. Leopold, 211 Westmount Blvd., who presided. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. E. Solomon, Mrs. Harold Neumann took the minutes. Those present were Mesdames S. Leopold, C. B. Fainer, M. Leon, H. Freed, S. Wittes, H. Tarshis, B. Aaron, J. N. Neumann, Harold Neumann, B. Halperin, L. Klineberg, J. Rosenstein, P. Glickman, Albert Wener, M. Rapp, M. Levi, Miss Annie Silverstone, Mesdames S. Vosberg, J. Kushner, I. Elkin, R. Freedman, J. Kellert, J. Levinson, T. Glickman, and D. B. Cohen. Mesdames Louis Wolfe, P. Glickman, J. L. Adelstein, and Miss Lillian Wolfe, were thanked for their assistance with the series of summer bridges. Mrs. Harold Neumann was elected corresponding secretary by acclamation, to fill the post left vacant on the resignation of Mrs. A. N. Pesner. Mrs. J. Rosenstein, convenor of membership committee, is being assisted in collecting dues by Mesdames J. N. Neumann, M. Levi, A. Wener, S. Vosberg, A. Rapp and B. Aaron. Members are asked to facilitate work by sending cheques to Mrs. J. Rosenstein. The bridge held at Victoria Hall with Mrs. Joseph Cohen and Mrs. Sam Wittes, as convenors, brought in over $500. A beaded bag raffled by Mrs. M. Levi and Mrs. J. S. Kellert netted $80. Mrs. J. N. Neumann won the needlepoint stool donated by Mrs. I. A. Kaufmann. Ways and Means Committee announcements will appear in the Review soon.

CANADA NEEDS MORE PEOPLE, SAYS SPEAKER

Canada needs more people to help pay off the national debt, S. W. Jacobs, K.C., M.P., declared in the opening lecture Friday evening, February 7, of a series sponsored by the Montreal branch of Canadian Young Judaea and the Young Men's Hebrew Association and given in the lecture hall of the new Y.M.H.A. building, at Park avenue and Mount Royal. Mr. Jacobs, representative at Ottawa for Cartier division, made a plea for a more generous admission to Canada of Jews, who, he said, were not found in the "soup lines" in large cities.

In season and out of season for the past 13 years he had been attempting to convince other representatives at Ottawa that the Jewish immigrant should be encouraged to come to Canada. Prospective Jewish immigrants to the Dominion had peculiar obstacles in their path which will likely prevent the migration of any great number of Jews to this country for, at least, a number of years, Mr. Jacobs pointed out. The Jews who want to emigrate from their native countries live mostly in the "non-preferred class' countries' of central and southern Europe. This enabled only a small fixed number to come here each year.

HEBREW MOVEMENT TO DEVEL OP CULTURE

Following a Hebrew mass meeting held at the Mount Royal Hotel when a delegation of the Histadruth Ha Ivrith of New York (a national organization for Hebrew culture), consisting of Maurice Tausner, secretary of the organization; and Isaac Rivkind, member of the National Executive, discussed the necessity of developing Hebrew culture and literature, a Hebrew-speaking group of Montreal Zionists and Hebraists was organized. The first meeting was held at the Montefiore Orphans' Home, when Mr. Tausner spoke on the life and works of Achad Ha'am, on the third anniversary of the death of this Hebrew philosopher. A Hebrew Forum will be held every two weeks under the supervision of the Merkaz Ivri (Hebrew-speaking centre). I. Gold, president; M. Surchin, vice-president; B. M. Weiner, treasurer; A. Rabinovitch, financial secretary; A. Nirenberg, corresponding secretary; Miss R. Yashenofsky, recording secretary. Propaganda committee: I. B. Cohen, chairman; Miss L. Gordon, secretary; I. M. "ALL IS NOT QUIET ON THE TORONTO FRONT"

I admit for once I was wrong. In this very column last November in the face of all kind of rumors to the contrary—I indicated—"All was quiet on the Toronto Front". I take that back. "All is not" quiet in the Jewish community of Toronto. At present "Standards"—false and true are being lifted and unfurled in defiance of individuals who dare to speak their own minds.

Now, every individual according to Jewish tradition is entitled to his own standard. He has the privilege to live by it—but no right to lift it in defiance of another person's standard. Holy writ has the following injunction: "And the children of Israel shall pitch their tents, every man with his camp and every man with his own standard according to their hosts." (Deut. 1-52).

Jewish life has throughout history been enriched by the lifting of varying standards. These ensigns were unfurled out of a sincere, honest desire to heighten Jewish culture, to disseminate Jewish ideals, and in general to beautify Jewish life.

Are the above urges in reality the cause for "The Jewish Standard", the new periodical printed in Toronto? I hope that I am not wanting in charity when I venture to suggest that the new magazine is the unhappy child resulting from an [illegible] fanaticism. A small group of conceited individuals have [illegible] title homage is being paid to their names by the all ready existing Jewish periodicals. Certainly their photographs should have appeared more often in the Canadian Jewish press! Indeed, their "masterpieces of oratory" delivered at various functions, and banquets should have been given more space... Then too the members of this small group have made a religion out of collecting funds for Palestine. They are supposed to be the priests of Zionism. No one dare to differ with them in the interpretation of the experiment in Palestine. Heaven forbid if an individual come upon the scene and prophesy that which will not meet with approval of these self-annointed Messiahs of the Canadian Jewish people.

Then the cry is raised—"this prophet is a "foreigner"—therefore, he is not a true prophet. Let us rise up against him. Let us wave the flag of Canadianism. Let us find refuge under patriotism, forgetting that this is the manner of the scoundrel. Certainly, intelligent Canadian Jews will not tolerate such methods of undignified and un-Jewish practices. It speaks of Jewish anti-Semitism and indicates a tremendous amount of sheer vulgarisms.

What a contradiction in policy the first issue of the new magazine presents! It is dedicated to the beloved Nathan Straus, himself a Reform Jew. Yet a tremendous amount of space is wasted attacking Reform Judaism. An old article by Dr. Melamed is reprinted with one object in view, to belittle the leadership of the liberal Jewish minister in Toronto. Then too, an editorial from the "London Jewish Chronicle", adorns the pages bearing the title of the "Iconoclast". This is certainly directed against "the new-comer" in the person of the rabbi of Holy Blossom synagogue. How cowardly a performance on the part of those responsible for this new magazine including its editors! Why were these gentlemen afraid to make their own personal attacks by putting in writing their own dislike for the new-comer?

And now a prediction! The new publication born out of fanaticism and egoism serves no purpose in Canadian Jewish life other than to stir up strife and cause misundertanding. If this be its aim—(though it claims in its initial editorial to speak in the terms of Shalom)—then it is bound to go overboard. Its promoters may support it materially—spiritually and intellectually high-minded members of Canadian Jewry will rise in revolt against it. . . Alas—"All is not quiet on the Toronto Front."

NO "BLANK DAY" IN NEW BUSINESS CALENDAR

The adoption of a thirteen-period calendar on the part of several business firms in the United States, does not involve endorsement of the Eastman Calendar Reform Plan, according to a statement issued by Rev. Dr. Moses Hyamson, president of the League for Safeguarding the Fixity of the Sabbath against Possible Encroachment by Calendar Reform (49 W. 12 St., N.Y.C.)

"In a letter we have received from Sears, Roebuck and Company, over the signature of its Vice President, R. J. Pollock," stated Dr. Hyamson, "the following comment is made on the thirteen-period calendar:

'By adopting the thirteen-period calendar, we have not disturbed the Fixity of the Sabbath in any way; we have simply divided the year into thirteen periods instead of twelve for accounting purposes only.'

"In the discussion of the question of calendar reform," continued Dr. Hyamson, "we have pointed out that it is possible for business, as is exemplified by this statement of Sears Roebuck and Company, to gain the advantages of a thirteen-period calendar, without disturbing the fixity of the Sabbath, and thus do violence to the religious convictions of all those who value the sanctity of the Sabbath.

BARCELONA TRACTION

Gross earnings from operation of the Barcelona Traction, Light & Power Company for the month of December, 1929, amounted to 9,599,299 pesetas, as compared with 8,666,285 pesetas, in December of 1928. Operating expenses were higher during the period under review, but even so the net was slightly

Crop Situation May Effect The Stock Market Trend

THE unsold wheat crop is the cloud which shadows the outlook for Canadian prosperity. Prices continue to drop and storage costs daily are greater. Hope of selling the crop at a good price is by no means abandoned, but there is no doubt that the wheat pool and the grain trade are not so confident now as they were a few months ago. Meanwhile, world-buyers are buying as little as possible. They are waiting with serenity for the time when it again may be proved that the big holder is the weak seller.

Much of Canada's prosperity is based on wheat. If, in the end, the crop which was small must be sold at prices which are low, the effect will be widespread. Only a bumper 1930 crop with a world shortage quickly would offset the losses. If losses are occasioned on the 1929 crop, every pool member will feel it directly and the rest of the country indirectly.

While many Canadian stocks since November have been selling at prices which make them attractive for persons with patience, the short-term investor and to a greater extent, the trader, are seemingly at the moment well advised to maintain an attitude of watchful waiting. If conditions in the wheat market are seriously to depress domestic trade, the stock market will hardly begin a definite upward movement until economic conditions show definite signs of improvement.

Of course, if the wheat situation improves from the Canadian point of view, the outlook for the stock market will be bettered immediately and immeasurably. But unless the best judges of the wheat market are unduly pessimistic, the prospect for Canada getting a good price for the wheat remaining in Canadian hands is not particularly bright, however, earnest may be the hope.

If it were not for this wheat situation, it could be said that stocks could be bought with confidence. The technical position of the market is excellent. Prices are reasonable in relation to earnings and dividends, and in many instances low in relation to prospects. The New York market, which will continue to supply leadership in the securities markets of this continent, has been gathering headway and the gradual increasing volume of sales indicates a greater degree of public participation than has been the case since the crash last fall. The Montreal market has reflected the growing confidence in New York.

It cannot be said, of course, that the outlook so far as the United States is concerned is unclouded. There are still signs of hesitancy and here and there evidence of depression which may last sometime. But there is a general inclination to believe that business is not doing badly, although first-quarter results of large corporations in key industries are awaited with more than usual eagerness. Perhaps the most portentous sign is the decline in commodity prices. There has been a pronounced drop for three months in succession.

Continuance of this trend will be interpreted as meaning that, for a time, the wealth-creating power of the nation will be curtailed, that corporation earnings in general cannot be maintained at high levels.

In Toronto, the market for utility and industrial stocks and the leading mines has been affected to a slight degree by the situation in the mining exchange. In some instances worried holders of mining stocks have sold other issues to raise cash to become holders of mining shares. Brokers on the Toronto exchange have been asked to take up, from mining brokers, accounts which do not contain good collateral from the point of view of the bank. In a few cases, worried holders of mining stocks have sold all classes of stocks. The situation, however, will be history in a month or two and will not permanently affect the investment in or trading of utility, industrial and soundly established inter-listed mining shares.

Mining & Oil

HUDSON BAY MINING

Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting Co. is preparing their Flin Flon Mine for production this summer. A number of the company's tractors are now at the Webb property, located between the first and second Cranberry Lakes, and will start hauling quartz for flux shortly. It is reported from the west that Flin Flon will secure the bulk of its fluxing material from here.

WRIGHT-HARGREAVES

Word from Kirkland Lake is to the effect that a new vein has been encountered in a crosscut on the 800-foot level of the Wright-Hargreaves. The grade is said to run good. Some fifty rock drills are now at work in the mine and good headway is being made in development. It is predicted that production for the month of January will be higher.

PEND OREILLE

It is reported that arrangements will be made soon to supply adequate power to the Pend Oreille. The "Z" Canyon site is still tied up for another six months. President L. P. Larsen came east several days ago in an effort to obtain power from independent interest. The difficulty ahead of the company is that the best site on the American side, "Z" Canyon, is tied up and Canadian interests are not favorably disposed towards exporting power. There is a great demand on the coast and power is at a premium. The Canadian market can use all energy available without exporting any.

HOWEY GOLD

Recent reports to the effect that Howey ore will run around $8. per ton do not come as a surprise. It is well known that the grade at the lower levels is well above the figure. It is in line with the conservative policy of the management to allow a very safe average in estimating the mine's performance. The mill will turn over this month for the first time. While some gold has been taken out of Red Lake from smaller operations, Howey will be the first above that of the preceding period of the corresponding year.

A gain of 2.3% in net earnings for the whole of 1929 is indicated. The year's aggregate was 65,365,918 pesetas, compared with 63,903,165 during 1928.

DOMINION ENGINEERING

With work in hand and in prospect at the present time the plants of Dominion Engineering Works, the big subsidiary of Dominion Bridge, are assured of capacity operation for the current year. While the demand for paper-making machines in eastern Canada has fallen off, the company still has several large contracts ahead, which will require several months to complete. These include two machines for the Powell River Paper Co. in British Columbia and it is understood a further machine for the recently opened Mersey mill in Nova Scotia will be constructed shortly.

QUEBEC POWER

Further wide expansion in all departments is indicated in the annual report of the Quebec Power Company for the fiscal year ended December 31st, 1929. Earnings for the period are up at $3.01 on an outstanding capitalization of 553,198 and compare with $2.40 in the preceding year with a capital of $502,908. Working capital position was improved over 100 per cent., while an already powerful balance sheet was further strengthened.

Another healthy increase in operating profit, higher net working capital, the entire redemption of the bonded indoubtedness and the retirement of practically all the preferred shares outstanding are a few of the features of the financial statement of the Page-Hersey Tubes, Limited, for the year ended December 21st, 1929.

At the end of the period capital outstanding consisted of 173,430 shares of ordinary stock and 595 preferred, allowing for the conversion of the senior issue on the basis of two for one, total shares of the one class would be 174,620, on which $11.27 a share was earned against $9.85 in 1928 and $5.96 in 1927.

BRITISH AMERICAN OILS

British American Oil directors declared a two for one split in the stock, increased the dividend and paved the way for a bond issue of $5,000,000.

The following official statement was made by A. A. Ellsworth, president:

"The board of directors determined to apply for supplementary letters patent converting the present authorized capital of 1,600,000 no par values into 3,200,000 no par value shares, on which basis each share presently authorized and outstanding will be converted into two shares of new no par value capital stock.

"The board also decided in the event of the shareholders concurring in the above, to put the new shares on a dividend basis at the rate of 20 cents quarterly.

"The Board also decided, in order to provide for the expansion of the business and for general corporate purposes of the company, to issue at par $5,000,000 15-year convertible redeemable sinking fund 5 per cent debentures with article conversion privileges.

J. S. MITCHELL & CO.

In accordance with the progress that has featured the activities of the company in past years, further expansion in gross and net earnings and an improvement in balance sheet position is shown in the financial statement of J. S. Mitchell & Co., Ltd. for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1929. Earnings on the common stock before tax adjustment but after all other charges are equal to $6.46 a share and compares with $6.04 last year. Further reduction effected in mortgage indebtedness, additional redemption of preferred stock and an improved working capital position are other highlights of the report.

MELCHERS DISTILLERIES

Favorable progress generally and a strong financial position are indicated in the first annual report of Melchers Distilleries for the period ended December 31, 1929. Earnings applicable to the common stock were equivalent to $3.88 per share on the 100,000 "A" shares and to $.76 on the 50,000 "B" shares.

EASTERN DAIRIES

Eastern Dairies, Limited, through its subsidiary company, the Acme Farmers Dairy, Limited, has now extended its services to Hamilton, Ont. Although these services were only inaugurated about a week ago they have already met with remarkable success, which, according to W. R. Aird, president of Eastern Dairies, Limited, more than justifies the undertaking.

FOREIGN POWER SECURITIES

Another gratifying increase in monthly earnings for l'Energie Industrielle and subsidiaries is reported by Nesbitt, Thomson & Company, Limited. Foreign Power Securities Corporation holds a substantial interest in l'Energie Industrielle which is one of the most important public utility enterprises in France. November earnings are as follows:

November	1929	1928
Gross earn. Frs.	15,323,060	11,466,082
Oper. expenses .	8,170,015	6,446,732

Illuminating searchlights were turned on Zionist activities in Canada by reports given at the recent twenty-second convention of the Zionist Organization of Canada held in Montreal.

M. Heppner, speaking for the Western Division, in a forthright report which was a model of conciseness, said in part: "The income of the Zionist Organization in the West shows an increase of fifty percent over that of previous years. In the report submitted to the last convention Winnipeg was credited, for a period of 18 months, with the amount of $28,578.38. This is equal to $1,587.68 per month. During the 30 months since the last convention, Winnipeg collected $80,550.01. Of this amount $12,770.76 was contributed to the Palestine Emergency Relief Fund. When this latter amount is deducted, Winnipeg still shows an average of $2,259.35 per month for a period of 18 months." Listing the amounts collected from the Western cities, Mr. Heppner had a right to "point with pride."

Somewhere in the report of Rabbi J. L. Zlotnick, executive director, he told the convention that: "We still owe the bank a considerable portion of the amount which we have contributed to the Jewish National Fund. We have paid up $17,000 since the treasurer's report was printed but we owe $140,000. This is too large a sum. We also owe money to the Hadassah Organization. We will be in a position to clear all our debts speedily if, leaving this convention, we will consider it our duty to see that all pledges made to the United Palestine Appeal should be redeemed without further delay. Edmonton has established a precedent that the pledge of the community must be paid up 100 percent and pledges which some individuals were unable to pay the community as a whole made an effort to redeem. Regina, too, has introduced a novel system that every pledge must be covered, if not by cash, at least by post-dated cheques so that without further effort and expense the sums are collected. These are two worthy examples which I hope other communities will make an effort to emulate."

The report of M. Gelber, speaking for the Central Division, was succulent with the following: "In the early part of this year I had the great privilege of visiting our cherished land, Erez Israel. My hopes to see that land were fully realized. I was indeed happy to see such tremendous accomplishments made possible and realized during the short period of ten years since our people began to emigrate into Palestine in large numbers. It is hardly possible to describe those picturesque scenes; to say nothing of the genuine thrill that one feels when visiting that country. Beautiful colonies in the Emek Jezreel inhabited by thousands of chalutzim, have been founded. The wonderful green fields stretched out in this valley are an unforgettable scene. The untiring devotion of the chalutzim to the soil is remarkable. I had the privilege of visiting the beautiful tract of land whose purchase by the Jewish National Fund was made possible by the generous contribution of Canadian Jewry. To the East are the Mountains of Ephraim; to the West, the Mediterranean, and nearby the successful colony of Hedera. A river runs through this stretch of land; the country surrounding it is wonderful. Canadian Jewry may be proud of the privilege accorded them of redeeming such a significant and vast area for the Jewish people. In Palestine the part played by the Canadian Jewry is recognized and the name of the Canadian Jew is held everywhere in great esteem."

Going back over Mr. Gelber's report, from the poetic to the prosaic, you heard that: "In the 1928 Keren Hayesod Campaign held in April, 1928, we received in pledges a total amount of $68,385 of which we collected the sum of $48,592. In the 1929 Keren Hayesod Campaign, unfortunately we did not reach these figures, owing to the fact that our campaign did not commence until the fifteenth of June, more than two months later than our previous campaigns. Being as it was so late in the season, we were unable to secure all of our usually spirited workers of other campaigns. Our total amount of pledges for 1929 was $55,207 of which have been collected up to the present time, the sum of $22,587 and there is still a balance outstanding of $32,620 which we hope will be collected before next June. I believe that these figures are to be considered favorable for Toronto." With unconscious humor Mr. Gelber went on to say: "During the year 1928 $5,000 was collected for the National Fund. In 1929 a similar amount was collected. Of course, we

[illegible] for
[illegible] efforts
[illegible] and suffer
[illegible] shall see to that larger amounts are collected."

Note: whilst the Zionist Organization of Canada, the most rabid group of Zionists in this country, [illegible] a member must blind his eyes, and his ears, and the [illegible] however constructive, of the Zionist Organization of the World or its smaller part. Any place else in the world of Zionism it is possible to examine with some detachment the policy of the organization, and to speak about it in a restrained way. But not in Toronto. Here every child of Zionism can not collect its due share of money if one of them be fanatical and imagine itself merely dutifully high-spirited and gracefully loyal.

But look at the figures which Mr. Gelber had the effrontery to present on the floor of the Zionist convention as being favorable. In 1928 Toronto Zionists failed to pay $20,000 pledged to their beloved cause. In 1929, with an apology which is laughable, they failed to collect $32,620. But they hope to get it in by June, 1930!

In his report Rabbi Zlotnick said: "Highly commendable indeed is the generosity of the Canadian Jewry, but yet still nobler and worthier is the loyalty and devotion of our canvassers. Hearty thanks to all the donors, but a hymn, a paean of praise to the canvassers." In the toast to the canvassers Rabbi Zlotnick might have added: "Too bad these canvassers can't touch the big pledges." For he did say: "Without them . . . nothing; with them . . . everything." Yes, with them the little donor must drag up his $25 and [illegible]. Without them the bigger donors would have to pay up their pledges. Surely all the money which has not been collected does not consist of pledges of people who have gone into bankruptcy. Included in the list of pledges there must be some who have pledged a lot but can't bear to relinquish it. Knowledge of this must be galling to the small contributors who find it hardest to pay. Why do they not demand a public accounting! Who are these delinquents who have not paid their pledges? Is their vocal passion for Zionism commensurate with their reluctance to pay up what they promised? Two tricks the worm will learn when he has turned to demand a roll call. One is to pledge big and receive proper kavod. The other is to let them wait a long, long time for their money.

TECK-HUGHES MINES

Teck-Hughes is earning its dividend by a comfortable margin, this current fiscal year. Its costs, now that the heavier work of the deep level development program has been put in the rear, are coming down.

Economies in operation, towards which large expenditures were made last fiscal year, in an effort to bring the best operating methods into play, are making themselves felt. Now that the bottom block of six new levels has been opened up sufficiently to say that this is as good in grade and width as any part of the mine, the pressure of exploration and development has been relieved.

KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD

The Kirkland Gold Mining Company, Limited during the year ended December 31 last produced $353,625 in gold from 53,595 tons of ore, the average recovery being $6.60 per ton, according to D. B. Hanna, president, in the annual report. The above figures compare with production for 1928 valued at $414,596 from 57,883 tons of ore, from which the average recovery was $7.16 per ton. The average recovery, therefore, dropped 56 cents per ton during the year.

"The outstanding share capital of the company has been increased during the year by the issue of 239,123 shares", states Mr. Hanna, "which represent the purchase of the properties of Chaput-Hughes Mines, Limited, and were issued on the basis of one share of your company for each ten shares of Chaput-Hughes held by the public. This purchase has now been completed."

HOME OIL

"Home No. 4 has all the ear marks of being as good as the other Home wells that are averaging 400 barrels a day", said Major James Lowery, managing director of the Home Oil Co., in the first official statement regarding the prospects of the company's fourth producer, which was brought to production at the end of last week and has been on test since.

"The first day of the test, the well gave 142 barrels and the next day 290", he said. "We have started to apply back pressure after the well had apparently blown clear of rocks and limestone fragments and the naphtha had become pure white. Under 300 pound back pressure the well responded favorably. It should be noted that the other three producers required about 500 pounds, and that they increased as the tests proceeded."

MINING CORPORATION

Silver production of Mining Corporation of Canada for the year 1929 amounted to 984,652 ounces, according to figures taken from the four official quarterly reports issued. This compared with 1,313,958 ounces in 1928, and represent a decrease of 329,306 ounces. Production in 1927 was 2,119,771 ounces and in 1926 it was 2,210,053 ounces.

In 1928 Mining Corporation made a gross operating revenue of $755,691 from the silver, the average price being slightly above 57 cents. The average price in 1929 was close to 54c, on which basis revenue from silver would be $531,712. Other operating revenue may bring this up to $560,000. Profits at the mines in 1928 were $153,078. This year, evidently, they will be considerably lower.

Jewish Artist Seeks New Art Form

By Lena Soltz

Samuel Soboloff, Toronto Jewish artist, will exhibit his paintings at the T. Eaton Company Art galleries February 17th. Soboloff was born in Southern Russia. He studied for some time in Paris at the Ecole de Bazaar under Monsieur G. Ferrier and at the Academy Julian under Monsieur J. P. Lawrence. He came to America arriving in New York in 1914 and after remaining there for a few years decided to come to Toronto where he made his home.

Soboloff has exhibited in Russia, Paris, New York, Montreal and is now preparing for his Toronto exhibit. His work was chosen by the Canadian Government among the finest in Canada to be sent to the Wembley exhibition in London, England. He has painted Sir Henry Pellatt, Samuel Kronick and David Dunkelman, of Toronto.

Soboloff is experimenting with a new form of expression which has as its basis Jewish characteristics.

Jewish art does not necessarily mean the portraying of a Jewish subject such as "licht benchen" a man with "payiss." Each individual nation has a form of expression of its own yet the main object of the artists, whether he be French, Jewish or Hindu is to paint and create, first, a work of art. If he be Jewish he may even choose such a subject as Jesus Christ and make of it a work of Jewish art as did Epstein, the world-famous sculptor. He was the first artist to depart from the original conception of Christ as the immortal son of God. Being a Jew, he saw Christ not as the divine immortal but as an ordinary human being who was capable of feeling pain. His bust of Christ, therefore, depicts the distorted face of a man, a mortal who felt pain and suffered. It was the cause of a furore. Yet it was first of all a work of art. It was Jewish because the artist was a Jew and being true to himself he created something that no one but a Jew could conceive.

The Jews have not as yet found the specific characteristics of Jewish art. In the ancient past painting and sculpturing of human beings were prohibited among the Jews and this art was neglected. Rather they were a race given to deep thought, prayer and mysticism and it is these things of the past that influence Jewish art. In addition to form and color there must be depth and spirituality. Jewish thought is so concentrated that books of interpretation can be written on one passage of the Talmud. It is the same in Jewish art, the minimum of line and form is used to portray the maximum of expression. This is the new form of expression Soboloff is experimenting with in his art.

To Rabbi M. N. Eisendrath,
Contributing Editor,
Canadian Jewish Review,

I have just read through your very fine article on the Pope's Encyclical and Public Education, quoted in the current issue of "World Wide," and this is a line to thank you for it. I rejoice to know that there is such vigour of discrimination as you display growing within Judaism. I hope your article will be widely read,

Yours sincerely,
T. Eric Davis,
Unitarian Minister,
92 Hawthorne St.,
Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

To Rabbi Eisendrath,
Contributing Editor,
Canadian Jewish Review,

We read in the Toronto "Farmers Sun" your frank and "pessimistic" speech at the "Education for Peace" Meeting, held under the auspices of the Women's International League at the Hygeia Hall.

Your utterances were digested with great pleasure, as it is a rare thing to find, in these days of sublime belief in the League of Nations and statesmanship in general, one in high places, proclaiming the Truth, as they realize it, in so blunt a manner. We confess that, in our opinion, the future of such persons appears to us to be ominous, as those in Higher Places (spelt with capitals!) do not allow the Truth to disseminate. But, on the other hand, we believe that there is hope, great hope, for the people are slowly realizing the Truth. We believe that in your efforts to oppose the Oppressors of the People in their various guises the People are behind you. But what we have heard and read of you, the writer is convinced that in Rabbi Eisendrath he has a thoughtful and sympathetic listener. Wishing you all the success you deserve, I remain,

Yours in the cause of the people,
William H. Hayden,
R. R. 1, Carleton Place, Ont.

Rabbi Eisendrath,
Contributing Editor,
Canadian Jewish Review,

It gives me great pleasure to know that we have in our midst a rabbi worthy of the name. I was fearful that we might not be fortunate enough to find a rabbi who would successfully fill Rabbi Isserman's place, but I am very grateful to say that in you we have a rabbi that is a credit to the Jewish community.

I was a happy attendant at the synagogue yesterday, and I can truthfully say that I have heard the best sermon in my life. A Christian gentleman who was sitting beside me said the very same thing. It was not a sermon made up of mere words, — it was a message full of meaning, delivered right from the heart and by an unbiased mind.

I wish there were more rabbis like you. We need them. The young Jewish generation will not tolerate the orthodox rabbi. The liberal-minded rabbi is essential to the present, and more so to the coming Jewish generation. Wishing you success and good health, I am, Yours very truly,

Charles Winston,

and many other far lesser spirits whom it were less odious to mention in relation to ourselves. "Vengeance is Mine, saith the Lord" is a good Jewish doctrine, but we know since coming to Toronto that there are many pious Jews who would be God.

It is rather a debatable question as to whether Judaism is a religion or a nation. The problem has been discussed pro and con throughout the ages. Some cleave to one opinion, many to the other. But either way, it is not of utmost significance. The vital thing is that if it be a religion, it must, none the less, be characterized by a group loyalty, and an ethnic solidarity that is nigh unto an enlightened nationalism, but what is even more important is the fact that if it be a nation, surely it must be dominated by certain religious values, and spiritual ideals, lest "like all the nations" it perish from the earth. Indeed it must, to quote the appropriate motto of our new contemporary. "Lift up a standard for the people." Would that the real ethical requisites of such a standard could be born within the mind and conscience of its proponents. Would that a bit more of the spirit of Isaiah, from whom the quotation has been culled, could permeate their procedure and program. We might suggest his noble spiritual emphasis as crystallized in that sublime utterance: "If ye have no faith, yea verily, ye cannot endure" or

"They shall not hurt nor destroy
In all My holy mountain,
For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of God
As the waters cover the sea."
